FARMERS PICNIC.

Attendance Large and Pro- As enjoyed by Editors and gram very Interesting.

About 3000 people attended the Farmers Field day at Vollmer's park last week Wednesday.

The programme as arranged by the committee was well planned for an interesting day's amusement.

The rain in the afternoon brought the events to an early closing and caused much disappointment.

The speeches by and Hon. B. C. Harding were of much interest and contained many features which were of benefit to the assembled people. Numerous athletic events were conducted which afforded much sport.

The next meeting will probably be held at a place more easy of access.

A large number of people signed the membership list and the next annual event will probably be bigger and better than any previous effort.

The above verses express full well the feeling that comes to every person whose duties at home, in office or shop, require such attention that the Summer months find them tired and longing for rest.

"Things outside are calling me;"it is nature's plaintive song which is almost irresistible; it is the song of the Michigan woods; it is the melody that comes from the shores of Michigan's beautiful lakes; it is the voice that invite you out to inhale the fragrance of wooded hills; to take a dip tance down. A bit of information of value to this locality, is the fact that M. A. A number of Perrysburg people have gone to Frankfort this week to enjoy the Crystal lake fishing, and the health giving breezes of that beautiful region.

"A premeditated elopement was frustrated by the Detroit police this afternoon when Arthur McEwen, aged 50 years, a farmer of occupation. and Miss Libbie Eaton, aged 15, were arrested by Patrolman Robert Shaw at the instigation of the police in Toledo. The couple arrived in Detroit on the Toledo train via the Michigan Central railroad and as soon as they were accosted by the patrolman McEwen fainted away and begged not to be arrested. The girl. however exhibited no emotion and voluntarily accompanied the officer to the police station. The young lady admitted that she had run away with McEwen from Walbridge, O., where she resides, and that it was their intention to go to a small town in Iowa and get married. McEwen claims that both had the consent of the girl's mother to marry. He is the oldest son of P. M. Ford of B. G., for several 'years employed in A. Conant's shoe store and was about 27 years of age.

No cause has been assigned for the rash act, but it may probably be at tributed to melancholia, as it is known to his friends that he frequently was subject to fits of despondency, notwithstanding his apparent sunny disposition.
